Information about the employment

Appendix to "Application for a Swedish work permit", "Application for an EU Blue Card for work in Sweden", "Application for ICT-permit for work in Sweden" and "Application for a seasonal work permit in Sweden". The form is also used when persons who are employed abroad will work for a client in Sweden.

Complete this form, Information about the employment, if you are an employer or client in Sweden who is offering work to people who are citizens of a country outside the EU/EEA area and Switzerland.

You can choose to fill in the information about the employment directly at www.migrationsverket.se. More information is also available there.

The information about the employment must include a statement from the relevant trade union in order for the application to be complete. This applies regardless of whether the employer is bound by a collective agreement or not. Start-up companies and companies in certain industries must fill in the additional information that is requested at the end of the form. If information is missing so that the Swedish Migration Agency must request further details, it will delay processing.

The employee must then enclose the information about the employment to their application for a permit to work in Sweden. The details provided in the information about the employment are a prerequisite for the Swedish Migration Agency to be able to examine the employee's application. This is why it is important that all requested information and documents are included.

If the information about the employment applies to several people with the same terms of employment and duties, one main person must be stated on this form and the others on the form Name list, 234011.

NB! The main rule is that, if it is a first-time application, the employee must apply for and have the permit granted before they enter Sweden.

Note, if the employment is a seasonal employment and the application is reviewed according to the regulations regarding permits for seasonal work, the employee must apply for and have the permit granted before they enter EU.

4. The employment

Here, you state if the person will be employed in Sweden or abroad and the period during which the employment or assignment will be ongoing.

For new recruitment, you must also state how and when you advertised the position within the EU/EEA and Switzerland and provide the advertisement's reference number or ID number. If you did not advertise the position (for example, when the person is applying for an extension and still has the same position as before), you should state why.

For more information on the requirement regarding advertising, see www.migrationsverket.se.

5. Terms of employment

Here, you specify the scope of the work as a percentage of full time, the basic monthly salary, any supplements and allowances, and the total income per month. For ICT permits, compensation must be provided instead of salary.

You must state if the company is bound by a collective agreement, in what way and the organisation with which the company signed an agreement.

In order for an employee to be able to receive an EU Blue Card, the salary must be at least one and a half times an average Swedish salary. More information about the EU Blue Card and the so-called salary threshold can be found at www.migrationsverket.se.

9. Opinion from relevant union

The union statement is part of the information about the employment. It is the employer who must obtain the statement from the trade union that organises employees in the relevant occupational area. This applies regardless of whether the employer is bound by a collective agreement or not.

The union assesses whether the terms of employment offered are in line with terms pursuant to collective agreements or generally accepted practices in the profession or industry. The union must send the signed statement to the employer.

10. Additional information

The additional information must be filled in by some employers in certain industries and by all employers in start-up companies. It is part of the information about the employment.

If the Migration Agency has to request additional information, the proceedings will be delayed. It is therefore important that all documents are included.

10.1 Companies in certain industries

Companies with SNI codes that start with the numbers in the list below must supplement the information about the employment with additional information. The SNI code is, for example, stated in the company's registration certificate from the Swedish Tax Agency. More information on SNI codes is available from Statistics Sweden, SCB.

Employers within municipality, county council and Government or employers where the number of employees is 50 or more do not need to supplement the form with additional information even if they employ in specified industries.
